Serial Nr. no
Minolta Code: unknown

Characteristiche and Functions

This bag is made of black leather. The case has the typical bag-ready conformation. The front covers the lens and the upper casing of the camera, hooking with three snaps, located on the rear side, to the three corresponding ones located on the back of the lower part of the case. The lower part has a rigid structure and has the screw to screw the camera through its nut screw. Two large flares placed on the side are used to bring out the camera shoulder strap with the bag closed. On the front we find a metal plate with the words "MINOLTA" with the Rising Sun in the "O". On the bottom of the bag, next to the fixing screw there is the wording "Japan", hot stamped. The upper part of the case has a plastic structure inside that serves to house the shutter button inside. This is to prevent accidental shots when the camera is still in the case! The inside of the bag is lined with black velvet.
