Characteristics and Functionszioni

The Minolta Panorama Adapter Set was presented in 1988. The set includes the panoramic mask to be adapted on the film plane with the special tool indicated as "adapter holder" and the focusing glass (type P) with horizontal markings that they delimit the impressionable area of the negative placed behind the panoramic adapter. Also included are the black plastic tweezers to extract the standard slide from the camera and insert the "panoramic" one into the housing. The four drawings below explain the relative simple steps of inserting the panoramic adapter.

Total weight of the adapter, the adapter holder, the slide with the relative tweezers: 17 grams.
